

Normally later css style properties defined later are overriding earlier ones.

Handling of "important" property flag

Except if they are marked with the flag "important"

Those can only be overridden by style properties which are also marked "important".

`img { border: 1px solid black; padding: 10px; display: inline-block; text-decoration: none`

•